Cycle's of Faith

4th Sunday of Lent

The waiting area of any hospital emergency room is likely to be filled with people in need of moderate care. It is the most critical who are swept into cubicles and trauma rooms upon their arrival. Heavy bleeders as well as heart attack and stroke victims are seen right away. But those with less dramatic injuries or people presenting with seemingly more minor symptoms often end up waiting for the medical care they seek. Corralled in a waiting area and watching the ever-on wall-mounted television, many of the sick simply suffer and endure until their names are called and they are ushered in to be seen by the emergency room staff. For those who wait, there is no quick end to suffering, no "Go wash in the Pool of Siloam" and be made whole again. All they can do is wait, and beg for healing in the crowded emergency room.

The man who was blind from birth didn't expect to be healed. He was a beggar in the Temple and had probably resigned himself to that lot in life. After all, he was blind from birth. There wasn't any real prospect for a cure. But Jesus comes along and opens his eyes. Jesus doesn't just cure the man's blindness. Jesus gives sight to the man in the physical world, but also in the spiritual world. The man confesses Jesus as Lord while some of the Pharisees reject who Jesus is and so are portrayed as blind to the reality of his divinity.

Like the sick in the emergency room, we can wait for a long time before we come to the realization of who Jesus is in our own lives. Some people find him early in life, others only after a long wait. Those who will be baptized at Easter are seeking enlightenment by Christ, and the rest of us who are going through Lent are looking to cast darkness aside. Christ is here to heal us all. ©2011 Liturgical Publications Inc

They brought the one who was once blind to the Pharisees. Now Jesus had made clay and opened his eyes on a

Sabbath. So then the Pharisees also asked him how he was able to see. He said to them, "He put clay on my eyes, and I washed, and now I can see." -- Jn 9:13-15
